

Share our commitment to ending absolute poverty by 2025.

Online/IT Specialist

£25,000 - £30,000

Location: Wells, Somerset, UK.

We are an independent organisation that carries out policy research, statistical analysis and communication activities on aid and poverty reduction. We work with donor and partner governments, international agencies, non-government organisations and the academic community to interpret and communicate aid and development data, policy and practice.

You are an individual with significant relevant experience in the web development field, who not only has a passion for technology and a comprehensive understanding of Web 2.0 tools, but also shares our commitment that absolute poverty could be eradicated within a generation. You will be responsible for the delivery of technical services and advice, and will work with others to generate high quality web content that explains poverty issues and engages people. Whilst our working style is informal, friendly and flexible you will need to be able to deliver on time, work with minimal support and see work through to completion.

If you want to find out more, visit www.devinit.org and view our job description and application details.

Closing date: 30th January 2009.